

DANCING DIS-EASE: MUSIC AND TRANCE AS MENTAL-EMOTIONAL HEALTHCARE IN ALGERIAN POPULAR ISLAM

DR. TAMARA TURNER

Tamara Turner (Max Planck Institute for Human Development, Berlin) is an ethnomusicologist and cultural anthropologist working at the intersection of psychological anthropology, musical and performance practice, and affect studies. She specializes in North African Sufism, anthropology of religion & medicine, and the links between cultural notions of affect, consciousness, and mental-emotional health particularly in Algeria and Morocco.

Monday, April 18th, 2022,
10:00-11:30

<https://ucsd.zoom.us/j/97184539377>pwd=
SzVLdXRozUUwRVRhbFdxTnlxajZoUT09